

Expert Coding For The Business of Radiology

Reduce hassle, stabilize coding, and stay ahead of the curve with HRS Radiology Coding Services.

Industry Problem

Has your organization's volume of radiological procedures exploded in the past five years, with no end in sight? Do you offer more types of procedures than ever before?

Keeping up with the increasingly complex radiology coding rules can be a struggle. The details and nuances can easily contribute to shrinking reimbursements, denials, longer revenue cycles and more audits. The complexities are too much even for billing companies to effectively manage; it is truly a specialized job that requires specialized attention.

HRS Solution

HRS helps radiology departments, imaging centers and faculty practices effectively manage coding volumes to maintain cash flow, decrease denials and keep audit worries away. Our experienced, knowledgeable, and credentialed staff stays on top of the nuances and complexities of radiology coding — so you don't have to.

“With 1,000 procedures a day, using an outside coding agency was simply a good business decision. HRS gives us expert, credentialed, U.S.-based coders to stay ahead and keep compliant every day.”

– Director of Coding and Compliance, Midwest Academic Medical Center, Faculty Practice

Through deep, substantial expertise in radiology coding, the HRS team gives radiology practices 1) peace of mind about their coding, 2) improved clinical documentation, and 3) subsequently higher reimbursements. And we know that great coding starts from the inside out, so we offer customized physician liaison and training programs to ensure long-term and sustainable coding improvements.

Whether you'd like to completely or partially outsource coding to us, or whether you'd like to improve your in-house coding via better clinical documentation and coding processes, HRS has a solution to meet your needs. We've been a leader in medical coding services for almost 30 years, and our core competency extends across all aspects of radiology coding — physician and hospital.

With HRS, you get an entire team of proven, seasoned, U.S.-based coders who know radiology coding rules and regional payer differences. By combining the latest in remote coding technology with clinical expertise, HRS helps organizations:

- Maximize Profitability
- Manage Volume More Effectively
- Reduce Errors and Liability
- Eliminate Administrative Hassles
- Improve Internal Processes – Coding & Clinical Documentation

Your Next Stop for Radiology Coding

Whether you're a CFO watching the bottom line, a practice director concerned about compliance, or a business manager struggling to stabilize coding, HRS is the ideal solution.
